Savvis Submission Icon provides content owners and creators with a new and easy method of receiving digital content from their customers.

Aggregate Digital Content Submissions

Submission Icon is a simple and convenient method of submitting digital media to a content producer or publisher. Content such as digital images, final ad creation, content from field journalists, digital print-ready files, and audio or video files can be submitted via a simple desktop icon.

The Submission Icon can be distributed to members of your organization, customers, suppliers or business partners to allow them to submit content to you by simply dragging and dropping their files onto the icon. This capability can be pre-configured to ask for information or metadata that you require so that the content will be automatically routed within your organization or supply-chain.

Managing Submissions

You can centrally control the creation and distribution of your Submission Icon(s). Once you setup a user account for the content submitter, an e-mail notification will be automatically sent to the person submitting the content. The submitter will simply click on a link in the body of the e-mail to install the Submission Icon onto their desktop. The icon will be configured to send content to a pre-configured destination. Files or a folder of files can be dropped onto the icon for submission. Content submissions can be tracked through Savvis' Web-based InfoCenter by providing submission details such as; which files were submitted, the size of the file, who sent the file and what time the file was submitted and delivered.

Streamline the Workflow

Submission Icons can be easily configured to meet your individual workflow requirements. For example, you could pre-populate a Submission Icon with an advertisement's unique reference number so that the ad is automatically routed to the correct location within your production system.

You can also automatically route digital images to the appropriate publications or set priorities for certain photographers or print jobs. Job tickets can be customized and tailored to meet workflow specifications. E-mail notifications can be easily configured to enhance your business processes.

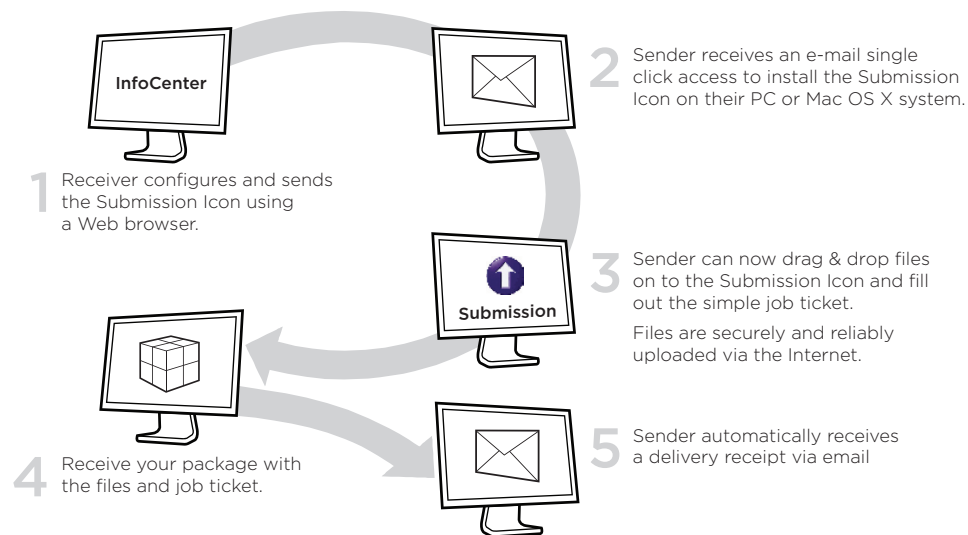

The Best Way to Streamline Content Submissions:

- Simplify the way you receive content from your customers
- Extend your digital workflow onto your customer's desktop
- Configure a Submission Icon with your name and company logo
- Simply drag and drop files or folders of files onto the Submission Icon
- No limitations on the size of files submitted
- Macintosh and PC compatible
- Customer support on a 24/7 basis
